The Amazing things you will be doing!

The Jomolhari trek is one of NAT's handpicked treks that offer beautiful landscape and spectacular views of the majestic snow capped peak of Jomolhari standing at 7,314m and its two companions the Jichu Drake and Tserim Gang. Jomolhari or the abode of goddess Jomo, is one of Bhutan's most beautiful mountains and imposing mountain in the entire Himalayan region.

The trek begins from Drugyel dzong village in Paro at an altitude of 2500m gently gaining height without having to cross high passes for the first three days, which is perfect for getting acclimatized to the elevation. May brings us bright sunny days and an assortment of rhododendrons, masses of wild flowers and blue poppy, along the way. This trek also presents you an opportunity to meet and interact with Bhutanese Yak Herders and learn /share in their life style.

This trip will appeal to travelers of all ages who enjoy nature, meeting new people and take pleasure in hiking.

You need to be in decent physical condition for this trip, but not a major athlete. The altitudes at which the trek takes place (2500m-4760m) make them more strenuous. If you can comfortably do a 5-mile hike with some uphill portions, you'll be all right.
